December 2006

One rainy, early summer day many years ago, two young boys rode into camp to find a group of people they thought were really different from themselves. The two boys were excited and scared. Yet, their world became larger and friendlier after discovering those differences were real, but not very significant.

Quickly these two small town boys realized that people with completely different interests, from different parts of the country, with different economic backgrounds could (and would) be best friends. It was a camp day no different than any other, but a day that changed both of their lives for the better. This is a story I told everyone (about myself) at the closing ceremony this summer.

~~~~~
This fall I heard the same story. Some grandparent friends told me about dropping off campers at Coniston. Their camper was in a cabin with others "very different" from them.

Leaving check-in that Sunday, the grandparents were worried. They returned on the closing day of camp to find that the entire cabin had become inseparable best friends.

On the way home the camper told tales of how great camp is, stories about friends and staff, and exaggerated almost every adventure. The grandparents were curious, so after getting to the highway they asked how these cabin-mates had all become best friends.

The camper told a story of the counselors having a cabin talk one of the first nights. In this cabin talk the campers came away with the impression that people should put aside their differences and be friends at Coniston. So—they became friends. From that point on, the cabin was inseparable.

~~~~~
Sometimes it is difficult for us to explain why we all love camp so much. To me, these stories sum it up. We love camp because people outside camp forget that life really is better if we all are friends.

It sounds so simple I feel silly. Sometimes I wonder if this is even possible. I feel a little guilty because this space in the calendar is usually reserved for tales of what happened during the past summer.

But all of you constantly remind me... this is what happened last summer at camp. It happens at Coniston every summer, in every session. I hope that we can make it happen year round!

Sincerely,

John Tilley

We have 88 campers who have been coming to camp since 2002. They get a special 5-year Coniston Triangle during our closing candlelight ceremony, and each name will be engraved on a paddle and hung in the dining hall so someday their children can look back on the 5-year Conistonians from 2006!

2006 Junior Division Campers

1st Session

2nd Session

3rd Session

4th Session

Junior Division Leaders Caitlin Elgert & Zach Friedman said one of their favorite memories from 2006 were orientation nights where the motto was "Serious Clean Fun!" That included whipped cream and flour all over the counselors! The girls had a special 'highs & lows' on the area three dock one night! The boys liked to count how many spills they had at each meal! So many camp memories... and so many more to go in the years to come! Junior campers have completed 2nd, 3rd, 4th grade.

2006 Middler Division Campers

1st Session

2nd Session

3rd Session

4th Session

This years Middler Division Leaders were Anna Cooley & Ben Mark. Fun things they did this summer were the 'nature walk' to Boys Waterfront and the Girls Camp crazy mud puddle dance party in the rain! Who can forget their signature chant.... "Are we middleers? Ohhhhh Yeah!" We had 404 Middler campers last summer! To be a Middler the camper has completed 5th or 6th grade.

2006 Senior Division Campers

1st Session

2nd Session

3rd Session

4th Session

The Division Leaders '06 were Rachel Brodeur, Liz Copeland & Eric Rightor. Seniors have completed 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th grade. Senior campers understood the power and purpose of camp: to make lasting friendships and to try things outside of your comfort zone. They lived the little time they had at Coniston to the fullest and embraced the spotlight of being role-models for the rest of camp. The senior division rocked division nights with visits to Mt. Olympus and enjoying a live show from "Telling Stories". From the constant bellowing of "Build Me Up Buttercup," and spirit on the Fighting Loons sports teams, to the tears on checkout day... it all showed the passion these campers have for Coniston.
